JUDGE ORDERS:

Earl Long Held

Dixie Governor Is Committed To Hospital

Galveston, Tex. (AP)—A judge Tuesday ordered Louisiana's stormy Gov. Earl K. Long held in protective custody at a hospital.

He granted a petition by the governor's wife and Dr. Arthur Long, Baton Rouge, La., a physician and the governor's cousin. They told the court the governor "is exhausted, overworked and ill both mentally and physically" and that he required observation and treatment in a mental hospital for 90 days "for his own welfare and for the protection of himself and others."

Dr. Titus Harris, internationally known psychiatrist, said in papers filed with the petition that the governor is mentally ill and likely to cause injury to himself or to other persons.

Further Orders

Probate Judge Hugh Gibson ordered Long held in protective custody at John Sealy Hospital pending further orders of the court.

Under Texas law the judge's order will be in effect until a formal hearing is held to determine if Long is ill and should be committed to a hospital. Such a hearing must be held in 14 days.

Gov. Long may be present at the hearing. He can have his own attorneys and may ask for a hearing before a 6-man jury.

Sedatives

He said the governor is being treated with sedatives, tranquilizing drugs, antibiotics and rest.

A medical bulletin said Long "is suffering from an acute illness that well may be the outgrowth of some underlying physical condition that has brought about secondary changes in the central nervous system and that with adequate care and treatment the outlook for recovery is an excellent one."

KORSHOJ IS LOW ON VA HOSPITAL

... Bids $742,000

Washington (AP)—The Veterans administration said Tuesday an apparent low bid of $742,000 for modernization and expansion of the Lincoln, Neb., VA hospital, was submitted by the Korshoj Construction Co., Blair, Neb.

A spokesman said these other bids were submitted. Kingery Construction Co., Lincoln, $779,900; Wilson Construction Co., Lincoln, $800,000; and P. M. Anderson, Tecumseh, Neb., $900,000.

The spokesman said a contract for the work will probably be awarded within the next two weeks.

Included in the program is one small addition to the main hospital building and extensive remodeling in the space adjacent to the addition—the surgical suite, clinical laboratory and pharmacy.

This project is the first phase of a multi-million dollar improvement program scheduled at the Lincoln facility.

proclaim construction of the nation's first permanent mall. And they aren't planning to stop with just two blocks. As fast as money and material can be appropriated, work will be continued until Kalamazoo has a 15-block city mall, they say.

While Lincoln may be able to claim the nation's first mall, which was completed in April, Kalamazoo mall planners like to emphasize the word "permanent." It is expected to become a permanent city fixture by Aug. 15.

Some of the problems and advantages of a permanent mall were described to the Star Tuesday by the Gazette at Kalamazoo.

The foundation of the mall will be of concrete blocks, creating a rough surface in order to provide traction for vehicles which can navigate lanes through the mall provided for fire trucks and commercial deliveries.

Several reflector pools, a "tot lot" for the children, benches and a stage which will be rented to merchants for promotions will comprise the rest of the mall.

Overall cost of the two-block project is expected to be $60,000 plus $5,000 for the stage. Bulk of the cost will come from street work and drainage funds.

A public hearing brought several strong objections to the mall similar to those voiced in Lincoln.

A move by the city council to draw $30,000 of the cost from the city general fund received strong objection. The remaining $30,000 in the city's plan was to be financed by merchants fronting on the mall on a front-foot basis.

Mall planners met the objections by pointing out that money from the general fund is used for sewers and other civic improvements anyway and that $30,000 was a very small proportion of the property tax collected.

Also, they felt that if the property value of the downtown area continued to decline, the city would lose more money than the increase in property taxes necessary to beautify the city.

It was objected that a permanent mall would create parking problems. In answer to this, a $625,000 bond issue was voted for a 244-space parking facility.

Also, planners are investigating the "park and shop plan" which allows each merchant to disburse a ticket granting an hour's parking for purchases made in his store. The lanes winding through the mall are wide enough to admit the widest fire truck in the city fire department.

Grass space had to be sacrificed in order to meet minimum fire protection requirements.

These modifications in Kalamazoo were undertaken with an average 66-foot city street. The downtown width of O St. in Lincoln is 70 feet of paving with a total right-of-way of 120 feet, according to City Engineer Carl Fisher.

The idea for a downtown mall in Kalamazoo had its inception when city officials observed plans drawn for the Fort Worth, Tex., downtown development program.

Then, the Downtown Kalamazoo Association quickly raised $20,000 for mall promotion alone and later $45,000 for planning. Long-term plans were drawn up and called the "Kalamazoo 1980 Plan."

The plan calls for perimeter routing of traffic around an area inside which at present are the entire downtown district, huge parking areas, a research center and a civic center similar to that still in the planning stage for Lincoln.

The work is being done by the City Park Department which will also maintain the mall when it is completed.

One participant in top-level talks on government financing said Tuesday there may be a presidential message this week.

A message could also be expected to cover the administration's plan to ask for a new increase in the legal limit of the national debt.

The debt now stands at a record 286 billion dollars—3 billion more than the permanent ceiling which will go into effect June 30 unless Congress acts.

Dirksen was asked about Democratic reaction to Anderson's briefing on the interest problem. He replied that one influential House Democrat said, "when there is a need, it is the responsibility of Congress to consider the matter seriously."

The House member was not identified, but it was believed that he was Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.).

Both parties present Congressional leaders of both parties met at the White House Monday night with Eisenhower and Anderson.

Dirksen said the discussion then included the question of possibly taking the ceiling entirely off the interest rates on government bonds.

Present law limits the interest on marketable Government Bonds—the type bought by big investors—to 4½%. The popular Series E Savings Bonds yield 3¼%.

Congress is expected to go slow with any proposal to boost or remove the maximum rates. Such action could have a major impact on the whole economy by putting upward pressure on all long-term interest rates.

Home Buyers Affected Higher rates would make it more costly for home buyers to borrow mortgage money and might discourage some people from purchasing new homes. Also affected would be corporate borrowers, school districts, municipalities and other loan seekers.

Just how serious an effect the move would have would depend, of course, on how much money the government decided to take out of the long-term money market.

Brooks Changes Mind--Signs Pay Hikes

Action Unprecedented As He Asks Override Of Earlier Raise Vetoes

By Don Walton
Gov. Ralph Brooks Tuesday abandoned his policy of opposition toward salary increases.

He signed 3 salary bills, hiking pay for judicial officers and 4 state deputies.

Then, in action considered to be unprecedented, Brooks suggested the Legislature attempt once again to override two of his vetoes of previous salary measures.

All in all, the action represented a complete 180-degree turn of policy.

Longtime Statehouse observers could not recall a chief executive ever asking the Legislature to "reconsider" attempts to override his vetoes.

It will take 29 votes to reconsider, 26 votes to override.

An easier avenue open to Brooks, should he himself wish to spearhead the effort to override, would be to introduce new bills identical to the vetoed pair.

Only 22 votes would then be necessary to secure enactment.

The measures signed Tuesday:

—LB2, boosting the pay of Supreme Court justices from $12,500 to $15,000, and the governor from $10,000 to $11,000, effective in 1961.

—LB34, hiking the salary of the deputy attorney general from $8,000 to $9,000, and the deputy auditor, secretary of state and treasurer from $6,500 to $7,000.

—LB47, increasing salaries of Municipal Court judges from $3,000 to $3,500 and their clerks from $3,000 to $3,500, effective in 1961. (No state funds are involved.)

The governor said he would introduce a new bill, however, to return the governor's salary to $11,000.

Brooks also informed the Legislature he expects to sign LB4, increasing salaries of county judges, once it is approved by the Legislature.

Judges, Official
The vetoed salary bills are LB536 and LB516.

They would increase pay of judges of the Workmen's Compensation Court and the secretary of the State Railway Commission.

The governor said he "experienced a great deal of difficulty" in reaching a decision on LB2 for two reasons:

—"the disregard of this legislative body for the salary civil service legislation I proposed in order to bring security and stability of employment to our state employees."

the fact that the bill includes a provision to hike the salary of the governor.

However, he said, "I have concluded that they should not influence my judgment to the detriment and disadvantage of another separate branch of our governmental system."

Others Pay More
Studies show, the governor said, that 38 other jurisdictions in the nation pay their district judges more than Nebraska. Eight pay less and 4 the same, Brooks noted.

Upon enactment of LB2, the governor said, Nebraska which ranks 33rd in population will rank 38th in the district judge salary scale.

Only 5 jurisdictions pay their Supreme Court judges less than Nebraska, Brooks noted. Five pay the same.

The salary increase will still place Nebraska below the average, the governor said.

"While I have expressed opposition to salary increases until such time as the Legislature receives adequate compensation for its services and until such time as salary increases can be considered for all state employees," Brooks said:

"I have concluded that the judicial branch of our government, fortunately staffed at the moment by distinguished and dedicated men of learning, should receive the benefit contemplated by the legislation."

Ike Will Stand Pat

Strauss Nomination Won't Be Withdrawn

Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower gave out official word Tuesday that he will not withdraw the nomination of Lewis L. Strauss to be secretary of commerce.

And, while new Senate debate broke out over whether Strauss is a fit man for the job, there were these other developments:

1. Rep. Steven B. Derouian (R-NY) raised the question of whether religious prejudice is working against Strauss, who is a Jew.

2. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex) suggested that the Senate hold a new full scale investigation of Strauss, based on testimony that has been kept secret.

Johnson Undecided
3. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, said he has still not made up his mind whether to vote for or against confirmation. Johnson could be the key man in the outcome.

Only .001 Keeps Anspaugh From Academic 'Shutout'

Only one-thousandth of a percentage point kept Lynn Anspaugh from a sweep of top scholastic honors at Nebraska Wesleyan University commencement exercises Tuesday.

The Buffalo, Wyo., senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Anspaugh, earned a Phi Kappa Phi gold medal for the highest 4-year average of 1.30 on a grading scale ranging from a high of 1 to a low of 6.

But Neal Ratzlaff, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Ratzlaff of Henderson, N.D., won the Wyoming scholar in a hotly contested academic race for top honors among seniors.

Ratzlaff posted a 1.482 average for the year. Anspaugh's average was 1.483.

Carroll Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Peterson of Red Oak, Ia., won a silver key for 2nd place honors in the Phi Kappa Phi race with a 1.53 average over the past four years.

Peterson was the only one among 188 seniors to graduate with highest distinction, and the first to win this coveted honor since 1953.

Ratzlaff and Anspaugh each graduated with high distinction, as did:

Dean of the College Sam Dahl also revealed that two Wesleyan students maintained perfect averages during the year:

Barbara Lautzenheiser, Lincoln junior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Lautzenheiser, who earned the gold key among her junior classmates.

Burton R. Galaway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Galaway of York, Neb., and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee D. Hagemaster of Erie, Pa., graduated with distinction were: Brooke Bowen Anson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Anson of Lincoln; Eldridge Clarence Foster, son of Rev. and Mrs. Leon A. Foster of Phillips; W. LaVerne Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Webster Thomas of Trenton; Mary Jean Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo C. Johnson of Norfolk; Rena LaVerne Lee, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. C. Orlando Lee of Scottsbluff.

Jean Thurber, Burwell sophomore and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis R. Thurber of Burwell who earned the sophomore gold key.

Other scholastic awards announced at the Tuesday morning ceremonies:

Junior silver key—Leslie Weiser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Weiser of Havre, Mont.

Sophomore silver key, Donna Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Edmund Havre, Mont.

Freshman gold key—Joyce Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Moore of Cortland.

Freshman silver key—Allen Zimbleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Zimbleman of Humboldt.

Preliminary Study Of Airport Told

... Parallel Runway Proposal

By Virgil Falloon
A preliminary Lincoln airport study probing the possibility of a second north-south runway at the Lincoln Air Force Base was outlined Tuesday before the City Airport Authority.

Roland Harr, executive director, said the study has been submitted to LAFB officials and would be reviewed by 2nd Air Force and Strategic Air Command.

When the Air Force report on the Authority's study would be available was not known, but Harr said officials promised to expedite the matter.

Meanwhile, the Authority directed Harr to secure cost estimates for an aerial survey of a possible airport site east of Lincoln.

Cost Estimate
Vice Chairman Charles Stuart said even if the Air Force is agreeable to a second runway, the Authority should also make a preliminary study with cost estimates for a new airport east of the city.

When both studies are available, Stuart proposed the Authority hold a public meeting to obtain the views of various groups interested in airport facilities.

The preliminary study for a second runway would locate a 150-by-7,300-foot runway some 3,000 feet east of and paralleling the existing LAFB runway.

Prepared with the help of the State Aeronautics Dept., the preliminary plan would locate 7 parking circles near the existing Municipal Air Terminal.

Civilian Hangar
Land east and north of the Terminal would be developed with parking aprons and multiple T-hangars for civilian aircraft.

Development of the new runway would call for relocation of two railroad tracks skirting the air base.

Some advantages seen in a dual runway at the air base:

—A single control tower in the Lincoln area. Control operations are soon to be taken over by the Federal Aviation Agency.

—The availability of the latest in navigational and landing aids that would have to be duplicated at another site.

—Mutual benefits to both city and Air Force in two runways; one for jet aircraft and the other for propeller aircraft.

Utilization of the present Terminal building.

The Authority indicated that the studies, when completed, would include cost comparisons and other data between new airport east of the city and the second runway and airport expansion near the air base.

Elect Beck
In other action, the Authority elected Leo J. Beck Jr., as secretary succeeding former member William Haydon, and Robert J. Phillips, new Authority member, as assistant secretary.

Chairman Victor Anderson was absent from Tuesday's meeting. Jack Pace is the 5th member.

The Authority discussed the possibility of a gas flowage fee at the Union Municipal Airport, but deferred action until a special meeting to be called later this month.

It was noted a number of cities impose a fee of 2 or 3 cents per gallon on gas pumped at municipal airports as a revenue source.

Action Delayed On Move To Reconsider Overriding Veto

Sen. Terry Carpenter Tuesday afternoon made a motion to reconsider and override the vetoes of LBs 536 and 516 after the Legislature received a message from Gov. Ralph Brooks suggesting the action, but the motion was held until Wednesday at the request of Sen. Hans Jensen of Aurora.

After Carpenter made his original motion, Sen. Marvin Lautenschlager of Grand Island said he resented the "extreme confusion to which the people of the State of Nebraska are being subjected by changes in the governor's decisions from day to day."

He said, "Last week he (Brooks) practically stomped the floor saying he would veto these bills."

"I think the people are entitled to have as the head of their government a man with a little more stability than that," Lautenschlager declared.

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth then rose to object to the motion to override, stating that the governor "decided to veto them and if he wants to change his mind, let him introduce a bill or two to take care of these matters."

Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha said he thought the Legislature should go along with the governor's recommendation to override the vetoes.

"It was the opinion of the committee and this Legislature that these salary increases were justified," he said, adding that "since the governor had the wisdom to change his mind we should follow his advice."

Jensen then asked that the motion be "held in abeyance until we have a chance to orient ourselves."

Sen. George Fulton of Beatrice interjected that he had voted for bill increasing the

ABLE DEAD

Space Monkey Dies; Not Due To Her Flight

Washington (AP)—Able, one of the little space pioneering monkeys, is dead.

Her death came during an operation for removal of part of a recording instrument used in her historic rocket journey.

The Army, announcing this Tuesday, said death was not due to any effects of her space flight. It said that during administration of an anesthetic Able's heart muscles began quivering. Even what the Army called "heroic measures" failed to save her.

She died at 10:45 p.m. (EST) Monday at the Army Medical Research Laboratory at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Able, with her female companion monkey, Baker, rode a Jupiter missile 300 miles above the earth at 10,000 miles an hour on a 1,500-mile flight last Thursday. They were the first living creatures the United States has hurled to such heights and brought back alive.

Baker Sheds Two
Two of 4 electrodes were removed from under Baker's skin Tuesday without the use of an anesthetic. Officials at the School of Aviation Medicine, Pensacola Naval Air Station, said the tiny, one-pound squirrel monkey experienced no pain during the simple operation and showed no ill effects afterward.

New Violence Hits Latin America

Wednesday, June 3, 1959 The Lincoln Star 3

Managua, Nicaragua (UPI)—Loyal troops hurled back two rebel invasion forces and chased them through the hills of central Nicaragua, President Luis Somoza said Tuesday. (Rebel sources in Costa Rica reported 300 insurgents fought a battle with a National Guard unit in Telica and killed 50 guardsmen. The rebels said they lost 23 men.)

By Morris W. Rosenberg

Violence is again dotting the map of Latin America. And there are threats of more trouble to come. Political unrest, economic troubles and local grievances lie behind the widespread disturbances.

troops and planes are battling rebels flown in from neighboring Costa Rica. President Luis Somoza has promised that the "traitors and mercenaries" will be annihilated. But in Costa Rica, Nicaraguan exiles assert fighting has broken out on several fronts within Nicaragua. Insurgent leader Dr. Enrique Lacayo Farfan predicts the Somoza regime will be overthrown. In Washington, Nicaraguan Ambassador Guillermo Sevilla-Sacasa has asked the council of the organization of American States to hold an extraordinary meeting Wednesday, the Pan American Union said. It is expected Ambassador Sevilla-Sacasa will ask the council to consider the situation caused by the invasion of his country by forces reportedly coming from Costa Rica.

Invasion Threat
Elsewhere in Central America, Guatemala recently has been alert against a threatened foreign invasion. The government has been fearful of an expeditionary force from Cuba which so far has not materialized. In Honduras, the government has been waging a long battle against rebel bands in the interior and terrorist bombings in the capital. In South America, the Argentine government said it has uncovered a Communist and Peronist plot to throw the country into chaos and anarchy. Heavy police reinforcements guarded Buenos Aires as the government claimed it had smashed a strike of bank workers, but faced threats of new strikes by railroad and construction workers unions.

DEVOWE CONGRATULATES LHS GRADS

500 Graduate During Lincoln High Ceremonies

More than 500 Lincoln High students received their diplomas from school board member I. J. Devowe Tuesday evening, in graduation exercises at the PSA building. Three members of the class headlined the program with 10 minute talks on problems of the group's generation. The speakers were Sharon Binfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Binfield of Hinsdale, Ill.; Louise Shadley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Shadley of 2819 Everett; and Joel Lundak, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Edward Lundak of 801 Elmwood.

'Our Responsibility'
Speaking on "World Peace—Our Responsibility," Miss Binfield explained, "It is our responsibility as tomorrow's leaders to find world peace and one of the methods is Albert Schweitzer's 'reverence to life,' something that we should understand."

"If we begin to understand the other peoples of the world with an interest in them and if everything we do is done with the good of the whole world in mind and with the proper reverence to life, then we can obtain world peace," she concluded.

Miss Shadley spoke on "Age of Anxiety." She said, "We are living in an age of anxiety, an era that is causing us much undo strain and stress, because we as human beings forget that we can withstand the strain and overcome it with knowledge, wisdom and faith.

'Greatest Tragedy'
"The greatest tragedy of our time," she noted, "is that we succeeded in splitting the atom before we found the wisdom to unite humanity."

"The Challenge of Transition" was the subject of Lundak's talk. "Besides our financial responsibilities, diplomatic obligations and the job of military preparedness," he pointed out, "the real challenge lies in raising our level of thought to a plane adjacent to our role in the world."

He added, "In order to maintain our world leadership successfully and counter the Soviet threat within our own borders, we must raise our standard of thinking."

Terry B'll Get Quick Advance

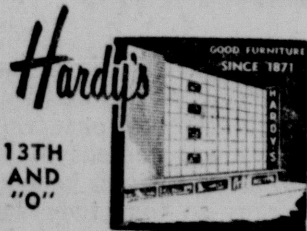

The Banking Commerce and Insurance Committee needed only a two-minute public hearing Tuesday to send LB721 to the floor of the Legislature.

The vote was 7-0 in favor of advancing the measure.

The bill, introduced by the committee at the behest of Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, corrects a measure passed earlier transferring licensing of firms buying installment loan paper from the State Banking Department to the tax commissioner. No one appeared in opposition.

No-Steel-Strike Outlook Good, Administration Feels

Washington (AP)—The Eisenhower administration, it was learned Tuesday, figures there is an excellent chance that a new steel industry labor contract can be negotiated without a July 1 strike. A high administration source said pressures built up on both the industry and union by President Eisenhower's repeated appeals to their public responsibilities argue for a peaceful steel settlement. That is why, he said, the federal government has no present intention of entering the steel talks in any way. Real Bargaining Ahead

The administration's private appraisal of the situation, this source said, is that both sides have engaged in bickering and pyrotechnics and haven't so far buckled down to real bargaining. But he predicted steel negotiators will start give-and-take talks soon in their New York sessions, with a good chance they will reach agreement ahead of the June 30 expiration of present basic steel contracts.

While betting against a strike, the administration was said to have these views about what would happen if a walkout does occur:

1. Any strike would be a long one, perhaps the longest in the history of steel industry dealings with the United Steelworkers Union. It could run two or 3 months or more.

2. The possibility is dim that Eisenhower would invoke the national emergency provision of the Taft-Hartley Law.

Herter Publicly Rebukes East German Diplomat

... BERLIN ISSUE REMAINS STALEMATED

Geneva (UPI)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter Tuesday publicly rebuked the foreign minister of Communist East Germany to his face at a formal session of the East-West foreign ministers conference that left both sides stalemated on Berlin.

Herter was joined by the West German adviser, Ambassador Wilhelm Grewe, who accused the East Germans of "mud-slinging." The West threatened to introduce tape recordings of East German intrigues unless the denunciations stopped.

Bedrock Stand

Russia was told by British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of the bedrock Western stand on Berlin. He said the West would go to a summit meeting if "some definite progress" is made at Geneva.

East German Foreign Minister Lothar Bolz, an adviser, offered an East German guarantee of "inviolability" to a "free city" of West Berlin if allied troops pulled out.

His legalistic arguments drew a rebuff from Herter and Bolz turned flame-red with anger or embarrassment.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, faced with stiff Western opposition, said he did not intend to "talk" the West into recognition of East Germany as a sovereign state.

Red Concession

He also admitted that presence of U.S., British and French troops in Berlin has not been "illegal." But he said conditions now have "changed" in Berlin. He suggested Western troops might be replaced by neutral forces.

Patience Running Out

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

As a great many people expected, a number of voices are being raised in Congress against the huge cost of operating the Department of Agriculture. The sum for this purpose now being considered by the Senate is $3,975,000,000. In case anyone has a hard time imagining how much money that is, just be satisfied in knowing that it is a fantastic figure.

Just about every person in sympathy with the farmer and in favor of a good farm program has been fearfully waiting for the day when a majority of Congress would stop debating the mechanics of farm legislation and start looking at nothing but the cost. This appears to be about what is happening now. Not all of this choking $4 billion (in round figures) goes for support to farmers. It includes the cost of sending farm products to other countries, research, etc. But a great deal of it is tied up in the direct supports to farmers for crops.

Evidence of the attitude of Congress in regard to the Agricultural Department budget is seen in the proposed $50,000 limit on total price support payments to any one farm or farmer in any one year. This gets at one of the areas of abuse of the farm program — the payment of thousands, and in one case as high as a million dollars, to one landowner.

Some aspects of the limit really make little sense as it means that a man who wants to remain a small operator can come in under the government program but the man who wants to try to make the grade on a volume scale cannot do so under the government program. But the idea is evidently based on the philosophy that the purpose of the program is to help the small farmer, not the big corporation-type farm which is expected to take care of itself.

But this action on the whole approach to the $4 billion budget showed a growing contempt for the idea of any farm program at all. For this, the nation's farmers can thank themselves to some degree and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson for the remainder. Many farmers have expounded the theory of freedom from government control.

This may sound good to some of them but it would break the agricultural Midwest. Benson has sought to achieve this end by making the farm program a dismal failure and a terrific cost. He has been most successful in this by coupling price supports to no acreage controls.

Anyone with the slightest bit of intelligence knows that price supports that give the farmer a profit without production controls are going to lead to chaos. It is the same thing as paying a merchant for everything he can stock, regardless of whether he can sell it or not.

What would the merchant do? He wouldn't be very interested in selling anything but he would sure have a big inventory. It is like paying a man a day's salary regardless of whether he works. How many of us would show up on the job every day if we were paid the same thing regardless of when we came to work?

Benson has simply ruined the farm program and with that, convinced a great many people that no program at all can work. So long as this kind of a philosophy prevails, the cost of the support program is going to go up and up. As the costs rise, sentiment against any farm program is going to increase. Eventually, we may end up where Benson wants us, no farm program and every farmer on his own to make the best of it however he can. A few of them will make it, all right, but a great many more of them will lose everything they have and be forced to leave their life's work.

The time could conceivably come when this would be an acceptable situation but the intervening years would be deplorable. What of all the farmers who would suffer under this situation and what of the economy as it is today in the farm belt? This economy could not adjust immediately to such a drastic change. As the farmers went broke, the towns and cities would go broke and this means everyone. It is not a very pleasant picture but it seems to be where we are headed.

Achieving His Goal

Defense Program A Mess

Whether Congress knows what it is doing on the national defense program is anybody's guess but if it does, it is alone in this world. The nation as a whole has been thoroughly confused by the mass of testimony and assertions that have come out of Washington the past five months. And before that, the various branches of the military had carried on their debate as to the relative merits of each of their operations.

This is still going on, in the form now of both over-all defense and the specific missile programs. The question now centers around the Air Force's Bomarc, a longer-range anti-aircraft missile, and the rival Army Nike-Hercules missile. Perhaps there is a place for both of the military branches in the missile field but the public is becoming more and more concerned over what appears to be senseless competition.

Add this to the unknown quantities of our total defense picture and the public is just plain confused. They wonder what happened, for one thing, to the movement last year by President Eisenhower to unify the armed forces in matters of defense goals. They wonder, too, what happened to Senate promises to straighten out the defense picture—promises led by Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, the Texas Democratic presidential candidate.

What is needed in Washington is some semblance of an intelligent discussion of the nation's defense with the emphasis on the missile program. We need to have a better public understanding of our comparative position with Russia and what our short-term missile objectives are. We need to know if we are merely spending defense money with the wild hope that something we need will turn up or with a preconceived program in mind. There is no doubt that we are in an advanced state of military preparedness but it is important to know if we have gone far enough and if we are getting the most for our money.

Amends To The Nisei

Stirred by the fear and passion of war the United States, after Pearl Harbor, rounded up 72,000 Nisei, American born Japanese, and pitched them into concentration camps, euphonically called relocation centers. All suffered an impairment of rights, and many experienced what amounted to confiscation of property.

It is now one of those things the United States heartily wishes hadn't happened. Throughout the period of confinement the government found no convicting evidence of disloyalty. Many of the young Nisei served the colors courageously despite the shoddy treatment.

Now a contrite government is making amends. Recently it has completed 26,558 administrative settlements of loss claims, and thus far has indemnified the injured Nisei to the extent of $36.8 million. Moreover, it has restored citizenship to 4,978 of 5,766 who renounced citizenship because of unjust treatment.

Nothing, of course, can remove the scar of a wrong act nor can any amount of money salve over a bad experience. Memory will not permit it. But some credit is due for the real effort to make amends.

And as long as the nation is in the mood of soul searching it should extend its examination to other minorities than the Nisei. The case of the American Indian is a more shameful one, worse in deed and also in an habitual apathy. It is the old story of an abuse. If one lives with it long enough it becomes comfortable and finally becomes right.

The only real sin of the Indian was his effort to defend his property—which for the rest of it is a very fine characteristic.

The Firestone Hour

Thirty-one years ago the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company sponsored its first Firestone Hour on radio—a weekly period giving to America the best in music by the finest musicians and greatest singers.

America loved that program. Through the years it gleamed in purest ray serene, shining through so much in public entertainment that was tinny, cheap and untutored. A generation learned to love the classics and were grateful to a great corporation for such a gracious service.

Perhaps it was not in the counting room of the corporation where the idea generated. But rather in the heart of Idabelle Firestone, wife of the late Harvey Firestone. A true gentlewoman, a great lover of music, a composer in her own right and a lady who, in common with her husband, shared with Americans everywhere. The Firestone Hour was a piece of her wonderful sharing.

It was especially appropriate that over the years the Hour opened and closed with two of her lovely compositions.

In due time the Firestone Hour moved into television and shrank to a half hour. Monday night a tearful group of artists, in one of their softest and finest concerts, said farewell to the public.

And across the land hundreds of thousands of listeners heard the farewell with unutterable sorrow. And there was resentment, too, based on disillusionment.

The Firestone people said they did not wish to quit.

The network crowded the program into the dustbin of television time. The coveted evening time is earmarked for someone else, someone who will spin more dollars and less culture.

It is a sad and disillusioning commentary on the so-called American way of life in general and the television industry in particular as a minister of American entertainment and culture.

The Firestone Hour is not the first of the truly meritorious programs to be snuffed out, nor this particular network the only one to permit the extinguishing of the elements which could make television great and beloved.

The problem of assaying true value is the most urgent one confronting the television industry.

But for the great company of American listeners Tuesday was indeed a gray day.

Nikita Plans Snow Job With Missiles

WASHINGTON — The fraternal conclave of Communist leaders now being held in rough, isolated Albania is, in my opinion, the most significant move made in the cold war of nerves for some time. It's probably as important as the threats on Berlin — though the two go hand-in-hand.

What it means is that Nikita Khrushchev is ready to parcel out his large store of intermediate range ballistic missiles to the satellite countries, including Red China, if we set up NATO missile bases in Western Europe.

Khrushchev is spending 12 days in Albania, which under most circumstances would be a very boring visit. I have walked or ridden horseback over much of northern Albania, also lived on the Montenegrin-Albanian border for almost two years. How a man as busy and restless as Khrushchev could keep occupied there for 12 days is hard to understand. This is real self-sacrifice. Albania is about the size of Delaware, has only three or four movie theaters, no golf courses, and Khrushchev could visit very corner of the country in a week.

Eisenhower spent one day and a half cementing relations with our most important southern neighbor at the luxury playground of Acapulco where there is plenty of fascinating diversion. Khrushchev is spending 12 days in a country with few toilet facilities, very little electricity, where the only diversions are coffee, conversation, and trigger-happy tribal warfare.

His reason may well be bluff. However, Khrushchev has the power to carry out his bluff. He has approximately 750 IRBM's able to fire 700 to 1,800 miles. In contrast we have about 48.

That means that the missile bases we are establishing in Italy and England can fire only about 20 missiles each. After that, they're out of ammunition.

In contrast, Khrushchev can take Russia's 750 IRBM's and parcel them out rather generously between Albania, East Germany, Bulgaria and China, so that each will have considerably more missiles than we can supply Italy and England.

This alarming possibility is one of the factors which prompted Jack Anderson's and my book, "USA — Second-Class Power?" It's also one reason why the present Army-Air Force row over missiles is so disturbing. We still don't know the type of missile we want to build.

Meanwhile, every single report in the Pentagon, without exception, shows that Russia is well ahead of us in missiles, and has the capacity to stay ahead. Secretary of Defense McElroy admitted this when he told the senators that the United States had no plans for catching up with Russia in the race for intercontinental ballistic missiles.

DORIS FLESON

Farm Program Rots On Vine

WASHINGTON —The Senate debated the Agriculture Department appropriation bill this week with all the enthusiasm of schoolboys confronted with oversize doses of castor oil.

It is going ahead with an indefensible program under a secretary it hates and a President whose intentions with respect to farm policy it mistrusts. Yet it is failing to challenge either one strongly enough to get action, and it has proved itself unable or unwilling to devise a decent alternative of its own.

Politicians have their faults, and their standards of what is permissible in a free society are no better than those of anyone else—and no worse. But they really do not like bad government and they are aware that the farm policy mess in Washington is the king of them all on the domestic side.

A new library of Congress study shows that Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, now occupying his high office for the seventh year, is the biggest spender in the department's history. Its expenditures from 1932 to 1953 were $25.2 billion. Since Benson came in with Eisenhower, net budget expenditures have reached $31 billion.

Yet the President and Benson did not offer Congress a new program this year, much less plan, work and fight for it. Their curious apathy, occurring as it does in the midst of administration anti-inflation, anti-spending ballyhoo, has given rise to a deep, dark suspicion on the part of many observers that they are content to let the present system become disastrous so that they can junk it altogether.

Such an act is not the political impossibility it once would have seemed. Benson's price support payments are an expensive luxury for the taxpayer and he is practically an untouchable in politics, but he has been richly successful in his divide and conquer maneuvers with respect to the farm bloc. It has disintegrated and the big consumer states have bought the fallacious idea that prices of farm products are mainly responsible for the high cost of living.

This is the main reason even the most conscientious members of the House and Senate shrink from trying to frame a farm bill in the legislative branch and subject it to revision on the floor. They are afraid the farmers will be outvoted at every turn on a measure vital to their well-being.

That decision is whether farmers can today be turned loose in a free market, subject to supply and demand, or whether the government is obliged to protect the nation's food supply as a matter of public welfare and national defense. With increasing boldness, some business and industry sources suggest the former; by far the majority here still gives at least lip service to the latter thesis.

Strauss Friends Apply Pressure

WASHINGTON — Senators of long service are saying they have never experienced such pressures as are being applied to bring about the confirmation of Admiral Lewis L. Strauss as Secretary of Commerce. The pressures come from a wide range of sources, indicating an intensive and thoroughly prepared campaign.

Several senators have had telephone calls from John L. Lewis, the doughty, 79-year-old president of the United Mine Workers. Lewis' theme is that Strauss, as Secretary of Commerce, would be helpful to the coal interests. Coal is the life blood of Lewis' well-paid mine workers.

Other senators are being told that Strauss would be good for the oil interests. Word came to Senator Hubert Humphrey from banking interests in his home state of Minnesota that if he considered himself in the "national picture" as a possible presidential candidate he should rise above petty factional politics and vote for Strauss.

By parlaying these pressures from various quarters the Strauss managers believe they have the votes to confirm him. An independent check shows they are probably right, with Strauss likely to be approved by a margin of from two to six or seven votes.

The deciding factor may have been the statement issued by Senator Albert Gore (D-Tenn.). Gore said he was giving favorable consideration to Strauss and would probably vote for him. His colleague from Tennessee, Senator Estes Kefauver, has been one of the leaders in the fight against Strauss.

In the long and bitter hassle the irony is that Strauss, in the view of many senators, has been his own worst enemy. At the beginning of the confirmation hearings a private poll showed the committee for him, 14 to 3. At the end of the hearings, with Strauss day after day zealously and righteously seeking to erase even the slightest blemish on his record, the vote was 9 to 8 for confirmation.

Senator Gale McGee (D-Wyo.) began in March with the fair-minded view that all things considered Strauss deserved confirmation. Now he has become one of those most determined to block the Strauss appointment. Almost every day since the hearings ended he has risen on the Senate floor to cite an instance from the record in which he charges that Strauss lied.

In light of the bitterness engendered there are those still relatively objective about the matter who believe that Strauss' usefulness in the office has been seriously impaired. They feel it is asking too much of human nature to expect that after what he has gone through he will not reward his faithful friends and punish his enemies and thereby keep the quarrel going. They say, therefore, that when he has been confirmed — and thereby vindicated — he should immediately resign.

The Strauss partisans reject this indignantly. They say it would be a precedent subjecting every presidential appointee to the necessity for withdrawal under the clamor of public attack. They see no sign that this will happen with Strauss.

Of the political consequences for the Eisenhower administration and the Republican party there can be little doubt. It has fanned into flame the old and half-forgotten controversies of the Eisenhower first term — Dixon-Yates, the Atomic power reactor program, secrecy and the fallout issue. Some of the votes for Strauss will be cast with extreme reluctance on the score that only twice before — once in 1867 and once under Calvin Coolidge — has a President been denied the right of his own choice for a cabinet post.

Solid Rock

Fairbury, Neb.

The Public Affairs Committee of the Fairbury Chamber of Commerce has adopted a resolution supporting LB722 to establish research seeking new uses for agricultural products. A Star editorial questioned whether this bill is on solid ground and suggested the possibility that such research be left to private enterprise or to the federal government.

Nebraska is now spending hundreds of thousands of dollars for research to increase the efficiency of agricultural production even though we now have tremendous surpluses, and the only justification is that we may need increased production 20 years from now. Such research is not left to private enterprise or to the federal government. You do not advocate curtailing research to increase agricultural production. If spending money to increase production is on solid ground, the research to find uses for such production is on solid rock.

Exploded Myths

Lincoln, Neb.

The official results of the recent general city election pretty thoroughly explodes several commonly repeated political propaganda claims. First, that the so-called "O Street gang" had an unbreakable stranglehold on the city government. Second, that a small coterie of wealthy residents secured election and re-election to the Council by "brainwashing" the voters through costly political advertising that other candidates could not afford. Third, that the light turnout at the polls was due to a widespread feeling among voters that it was hopeless to effect a change. Fourth, that the only way to bring about a change of Council members and a large turnout at City elections is to divide the city into six election districts and let each one nominate and elect a Council member to represent it. The election results clearly demonstrated that there is no need to resort to artificial mechanical districting to bring out a larger vote and a more popular choice of Council members.

A total of 20,003 voters cast ballots, each with the right to vote for three members of the Council, or a grand total of 60,009 Council votes. But only 53,219 votes were actually cast for Council candidates, leaving a gap of 6,790 votes for one or another of all three reasons — because 3,395 voters cast a "single-shot" vote for only one Council candidate, or 6,790 voted for only two candidates, or 2,263 fail to vote for any Council candidate. It is very doubtful if any considerable number

Stolen Flowers

Lincoln, Neb.

Memorial Day, May 30, is in memory of our loved ones who have passed away. Therefore we remember them by decorating their graves. My husband and I went to Lincoln Memorial Cemetery Friday evening, May 29, and placed a wreath on my father's grave. In less than 18 hours afterwards, someone stole this wreath from my father's resting place.

I wonder just how this person would feel if he were to have the same thing happen to him. He certainly knew he was doing a wrong. If not, he should look in the Bible, Exodus 20:15, "Thou shalt not steal."

When one enters the cemetery, he goes to remember and respect the deceased, and not to take from one grave to decorate another. I'm sure there are many flowers that could have been given to this person, had he just asked for them.

As you sow, so shall you reap.

OFF THE RECORD

By Ed. Reed

Starts On 3 State Public Works Projects Get House Unit Fund OK

Washington — The House Appropriations Committee Tuesday approved funds totaling $965,000 for starts on 3 public works projects in Nebraska, but knocked out $2 million requested for the controversial Ainsworth irrigation project.

Approved were appropriations of $90,000 for the Salt-Wahoo project, in the Lincoln area, $350,000 for the Gering-Mitchell Valley flood control project in the Scottsbluff area, and $525,000 for the Red Willow project in the McCook area.

The Salt-Wahoo and Red Willow projects are under the Bureau of Reclamation and the Gering-Mitchell project is under the Corps of Engineers.

The recommended appropriations still must be approved by the House and Senate.

Reclamation

Also recommended by the committee were appropriations requested by President Eisenhower for 3 Bureau of Reclamation projects:

Frenchman-Cambridge, $4,076,000; Farwell, $3 million, and Bostwick, $2,338,000.

The committee's total appropriation for the projects of $1,176,000, out of which will come Nebraska's share, does not exceed the President's total requested appropriation, but includes a large number of changes and new starts.

Little Blue Study

The committee also approved a $68,500 appropriation for a feasibility study of the Little Blue project, for which proponents had asked $150,000.

On the Ainsworth project, which had the blessing of the President, the committee said that "testimony on the project is to the effect that there is litigation pending before the State Supreme Court and there is strenuous local opposition to the project."

"Until these matters are clarified, the committee is of the opinion that construction of this project can be deferred."

Validity

The litigation concerns validity of the repayment contract and the question of water rights under Nebraska law.

The $25 million project received an initial appropriation of $1.1 million from Congress last year.

Rep. Don McGinley, in whose district the project lies, said he had told both the House and Senate committees that "if there were not enough funds available to go around to all Nebraska projects, he thought the Gering-Mitchell and Salt-Wahoo flood control projects should get top priority."

McGinley added, "I did not suggest how they should juggle the funds around."

Very Happy

He said he was "very happy about the beginning fund for the Gering-Mitchell Valley flood project" which also is in his district.

Rep. Larry Brock, Third District congressman who testified against the Ainsworth project, said Tuesday his position hasn't changed and that he considers the deletion of the $2 million a saving for taxpayers.

On other projects the committee pared the request for Bureau of Reclamation transmission lines from $15,508,000 to $14,953,000, and the Bureau investigation fund from $2,000,000 to $1,750,000.

The Glendo Unit, in Wyoming, which is of prime interest to Western Nebraska, was left unchanged at $2,182,000, as were the funding requests for two big Main Stem Missouri River Reservoir projects in South Dakota: Fort Randall, $1,150,000 and Oahe, $43,500,000.

The committee sliced $600,000 off the request for the Big Bend Reservoir, still in the preliminary stages, setting the figure at $2,000,000.

Terry Launches Verbal Attack

... Brooks, Boyle Hit

By Betty Person

Politics erupted in full furor on the floor of the Legislature Tuesday as Sen. Terry Carpenter blasted Gov. Ralph Brooks and Democratic National Committeeman Bernard Boyle and heaped praise on Republican Attorney General C. S. Beck.

The Scottsbluff senator then was the target for blasts from some of his colleagues who objected to his remarks about the Democratic governor.

Tuesday's floor action was stimulated late Monday afternoon when reprints of a Lincoln Star editorial entitled "What's Wrong With Beck" were placed on the senators' desks at the request of Gov. Brooks.

Sen. Norman Otto of Kearney told The Star he had been asked to authorize placement of the reprints on the desks by Assistant Clerk of the Legislature Francis Robinson at the request of the governor's office.

Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City attempted to halt Carpenter before his speech began, stating that rules of the Legislature confine floor speeches to relevant subjects and that speeches on points of personal privilege have been abused.

By a vote of 25-8, however, the Legislature gave Carpenter permission to speak.

Referring to criticism directed at Beck for his recent statements in which he has been critical of the governor, Legislature and federal courts in relation to the Starkweather case, Carpenter said Beck should have "nothing except credit" for showing the "courage" to speak out on the issues.

Carpenter also commented that the Republican Party has learned it will not win any more elections by "default," and that it's time to

'Education Provides Basis For Wise Decisions'

... Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin Tells Wesleyan Graduates

Education provides a basis for intelligent decisions, U.S. Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin told 188 graduates of Wesleyan University at 70th annual commencement exercises Tuesday.

"No university can hope to provide you with an education that will be adequate through life, due to rapid present-day changes," he said.

The former Lincoln attorney said the "real distinction between democracy and statism is that we prize each individual and wish him to make the most of himself. In our way of life, we rely upon the irrepressible fertility of the individual mind.

"The ideological conflict with Soviet Russia in which we are now engaged is a life or death struggle," he told the graduates. "Your generation may well be the determinant."

"In these times the needs of society for men and women who have learned to place their trust in the free pursuit of truth is limitless," he added.

Rankin and two others, Walter L. Jewett, pastor of Centenary Methodist Church at Beatrice, and George A. Knight, president of Citizen's State Bank in Lincoln, later received honorary degrees from the University.

Also during the exercises, University President Vance D. Rogers announced receipt of an $18,000 annuity gift from Dean Emeritus Bertram E. McProud, former dean of the Teachers College who retired in 1946 after 35 years service.

The gift is in the form of 160 acres of improved land located near Raymond.

The Woman's Wesleyan Educational Council announced that its top honor, the Life Membership Award, was given this year to senior Peggy Lee Hagemester of Estes Park, Colo. It is based on the highest scholastic achievement for the 4 years.

Scholarships

Donna Lee Anderson won the $100 Patron's Scholarship. The council also named 10 coeds as recipients of scholarships and grants:

$50 Scholarships: Patricia Jane Hare of Albion, Diana June Smith of Chappell, Margaret Louise Eickman of Chester, Myra Susan Witschy of Scottsbluff, Jeanice Lynette Zimmer of Chappell, Carmen Bonser of Beaver City and Brenda Lou Humphrey of Imperial.

Grants-In-Aid: Nancy Mahon of Haigler and Rosemary Thiel of Hamburg, Ia.

Essay Winners

Two freshman men and a sophomore coed were announced as winners of the Sterling Morton Essay Contest by Sam Dahl, dean of the college.

First, Rod McMahan of Lincoln, $125; 2nd, Jeanice Zimmer of Chappell, $75; and 3rd, Douglas Harman of Lincoln, $50.

Among the 188 graduates was a father-son team from Lincoln, Edgar F. Knox, 48, and his 21-year-old son, Gary. The elder Knox had been Nebraskans who still find it necessary to think before they speak."

Referring to Carpenter's linking the governor with the Starkweather reprieve, Brooks said:

"Had he (Carpenter) thought he would not have insinuated any compromising of the governor with reference to the Starkweather matter but would have examined the facts which displayed that the governor resisted letters, telegrams and telephone calls for 5 months and in the last 35 hours before the scheduled execution denied the request of Starkweather's companion (Caril Ann Fugate) to visit him, denied her request for a stay of (his) execution, and denied her request that he reconsider both.

"Mr. Carpenter has again made a belated attempt to ingratiate himself with the Republican Party he once betrayed."

Senate Ousts Move To Slash $150 Million From Soil Conservation Pay

Washington (UPI) — The Senate, in its first major test on a big new farm spending bill, voted down an administration-backed move to slash $150,000,000 from 1960 soil conservation payments.

The senators then agreed on a timetable designed to permit a showdown vote Wednesday on another section of the measure which would clamp a $50,000 ceiling on price support benefits to any one farmer.

A sharp fight was expected. Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss), who is seeking to soften the limitation, said it would "wreck the farm program" and pile up two to 4 million bales of surplus cotton, glutting the market. He said the damage also would spread to other crops.

'Shotgun Confusion'

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) agreed the provision had been adopted by an Agriculture Appropriations subcommittee in an atmosphere of "shotgun confusion." But he noted that the subcommittee rejected the Stennis plan by a tie vote and said the Senate must face up to the fact that the House approved the support limitation by a commanding majority.

Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La) of the Senate Agriculture Committee said the ceilings were written into the money bill as the result of "misrepresentation" and "misleading statements from the press."

He referred to news accounts telling how some big industrial type farm operators had received price support benefits ranging as high as a million dollars a year.

Rival Amendment

On the other hand, Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del) is pushing a rival amendment which would reduce the price support ceiling to $35,000. The overall bill carries more than $4,000,000,000 to finance supports, research and other farm programs next year.

Williams also sponsored the defeated amendment to slash soil conservation subsidies. It was defeated by a roll call vote of 51-26 with 42 Republicans and 9 Democrats voting against it. In favor of the cut were 21 Republicans and 5 Democrats.

The Delaware senator wanted to authorize only $100,000,000 in federal conservation subsidies during the 1960 calendar year. As the bill now stands, it would provide $250,000,000 for the program—the same as this year.

'Sweetener' Is Sought For Reapportionment

By Betty Person

Nebraska lawmakers opened debate Tuesday on a bill which eventually could lead to an increase in their membership, but delayed action on the measure for one week to see if amendments can be drawn which will make it palatable.

Under discussion was LB624, introduced by Sen. George Syas of Omaha, which proposes a constitutional amendment to be voted upon in 1960 authorizing an increase in the Legislature from 43 to 65 members.

As originally drawn, the bill proposes that apportionment of the senators would be on the basis of population according to the 1960 federal census, and would allow reapportionment every 10 years to correct any inequalities.

Divided 2 Ways

Under amendments proposed by the Miscellaneous Subjects Committee, the state would be divided into 22 districts as nearly equal in size as possible and 43 districts divided on a population basis.

Committee amendments also propose that each member be paid a salary of $150 a month for his term, and 4-year staggered terms also are proposed.

Shortly after debate opened, Sen. Terry Carpenter moved to kill the bill, but he later withdrew the motion pending an attempt to work out amendments to the measure.

Know Less And Less

Sen. Syas said an increase in membership was necessary to lighten the work load. "More and more every session, we know less and less about bills coming before us," he commented.

The Omaha senator said he was opposed to committee amendments which would provide for some senators' election on an area basis, and others on a population basis. He described it as "kind of goofy."

Sen. Carpenter said he had no objection to increasing the membership, but said he wanted apportionment left to the Legislature.

3 Bills Advanced

In other action during the Tuesday afternoon session, the lawmakers advanced 3 bills and held for further debate LB694, the "implied consent" bill.

LB694, introduced by Sen. Marvin Lautenschlager at the request of the governor, provides that anyone arrested for drunken or reckless driving would have to submit to a chemical test of his blood or urine for purposes of determining whether he was drunk or sober. Refusal to be tested could cost the driver his license for up to a year.

Bills advanced were:

LB342 (Barbach, Bowen, Olinger): providing that whenever a person is furnished support, maintenance, or burial as a poor person by the county, the county shall have claim against the estate. The claim would be a lien against real estate owned by the recipient and would be superior to the lien for old age pension.

LB578 (Romans): validating certain certificates of public convenience and necessity issued without a finding of same by the State Railway Commission.

LB594 (Munnely): providing for regulation of life insurance sold in connection with credit and loan transactions setting amounts, terms and forms for such insurance and providing penalties.

League Has Luncheon, Style Show

MRS. IRVIN ROSEWELL, MRS. ROBERT HILLYER

The Lincoln Junior League closed its 1958-59 season on Tuesday when the members met for luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club.

One of the special features of the luncheon was a style show for which members of the League—and some of their small fry—served as models.

While the active members of the League were holding their meeting, the Sustaining members held their annual business meeting and election of officers.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

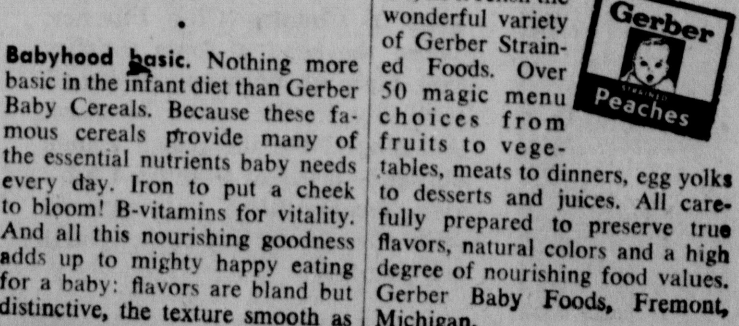

A new baby in the house prompts all kinds of advice from self-styled baby-care experts. Most of it is well-meant, but often conflicting and thereby confusing. Best advice I know is to read all the authoritative material you can... then heed your heart, your common-sense head, your mother-instinct, and most important, your doctor. You're in a position to know your baby's needs best, since you're with him most—and your doctor is trained to know the answers.

Babyhood basic. Nothing more basic in the infant diet than Gerber Baby Cereals. Because these famous cereals provide many of the essential nutrients baby needs every day. Iron to put a check to bloom! B-vitamins for vitality. And all this nourishing goodness adds up to mighty happy eating for a baby: flavors are bland but distinctive, the texture smooth as smooth can be. Ready to serve with formula or milk. 5 varieties to invite continued delight.

Weighty matter. When you start thinking of baby's weight in terms of pounds rather than ounces you can weigh him on your own regular bathroom scale. Here's how you do it: Check your own weight first. Then weigh yourself with baby. Subtract your weight from the second figure, and you've got the poundage of your pride 'n joy.

Variety review, for you-know-who. When baby advances to a full food schedule, he'll relish the wonderful variety of Gerber Strained Foods. Over 50 magic menu choices from fruits to vegetables, meats to dinners, egg yolks to desserts and juices. All carefully prepared to preserve true flavors, natural colors and a high degree of nourishing food values. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

—Good morning, and news-wise, weatherwise, and all of the other wise—it really is a good morning. Since we neglected our brides somewhat yesterday, we'll begin the day's social merry-go-round with them. In addition we have farewell courtesies to talk about—and numerous other matters to mention.

—One of the early June brides is Miss Pat Alvord whose marriage to Darrell DeLong of Clarksville, Ark., will take place on Thursday evening, June 4.

This evening Mr. and Mrs. Clifford W. Alvord will preside at dinner at Hillcrest Country Club in prenuptial courtesy to their daughter and Mr. DeLong. Dinner places will be arranged for members of the bridal party and the families.

—And on Thursday evening another of Lincoln's June brides, Miss Suzanne Swingle, whose marriage to Veldon Lewis will be solemnized on June 12, will share honors with Miss Cindy Otrudovsky when Miss Cindy Zschau and Miss Gayle Peddie are picnic hostesses at the home of Miss Peddie in Omaha. The guest list will include Kappa Alpha Theta seniors, and each of the brides-elect will be presented with a one-gift appliance shower.

—It will be a post-nuptial courtesy for which Mrs. Ralph Ireland, Mrs. Kent Morgan, Mrs. Richard Joy and Mrs. Victor Anderson will be hostesses next Tuesday morning when they honor Mrs. Philip Langness who, before her marriage on May 31, was Miss Strela Sears. The guests have been invited for a 10:30 o'clock coffee at the Lincoln Country Club, and Mrs. Langness will be presented with a one-gift shower.

—The farewell courtesies we mentioned are for Mrs. C. D. Hildebrand who, with Mr. Hildebrand and their children, Ginny, Chuck and Dick, will leave at week's end for their new home in Denver—and for Mrs. Ivan Pierce who, with Mr. Pierce and their children, Tommy and Connie, soon will be leaving for Newark, O., where they will reside.

Mrs. Hildebrand and Mrs. Pierce shared honors last Friday when Mrs. John Allen entertained at luncheon and bridge at Hillcrest Club.

And on Saturday morning Mrs. Jean Furr paid farewell courtesy to Mrs. Hildebrand when she was a coffee hostess at her home. The guest list included the members of the Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club of which Mrs. Hildebrand is the immediate past president.

Visitors In Lincoln

Guests from Dalton, Mass., are Mr. and Mrs. Peter L. Keene and their daughters, Barbara Ellen (left) and Molly, who are visiting Mr. Keene's parents Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Keene, and his brothers, David, Jack and Tom Keene, and their families. The visitors will leave this week to return to Massachusetts where Mr. Keene, a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Phi Delta Theta, is associated with General Electric.

Aksarben Club Elects

The Aksarben Toastmistress Club met at the Hotel Cornhusker on Tuesday for luncheon and election of new officers.

Elected to head the group was Mrs. Robert Hoffman (at right) shown receiving the president's gavel from the retiring president Mrs. Bruce Mills. Other officers include Mrs. Rudelle Webb, vice president; Mrs. Clifford Roberts, treasurer; Mrs. William Schwoeb, recording secretary; Mrs. Alan Jorgensen, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Morris Moon, club representative. Mrs. Raleigh Smith served as the installing officer.

The luncheon had an Hawaiian-Alaskan theme and featured speakers were Mrs. Webb, who gave a reading on Alaska, and Mrs. Moon, who spoke on Hawaii.

The couples are in town to attend the marriage of their niece, Miss Connie Jones, and Steve Girardot which will be an event of Friday, June 5, the 22nd wedding anniversary of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard E. Jones.

While their sons are visiting, Mr. and Mrs. Schwenker will celebrate their 55th wedding anniversary at a family dinner.

The Star In Suburbia

This is a busy time of year for the members of Lincoln Camp Fire Girls who are completing requirements to earn their various "beads of merit."

Pleasantly busy recently were the members of the Ki-Tami-Ta group who were young lady, and the final step for a Camp Fire Girl before receiving her hostess bead is the pleasant task of giving a party.

Miss Wendy Bartlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bartlett, was put through her paces as a hostess recently when she entertained the members of her Camp Fire group at a cook-out at her home.

COUNTRY CLUB MANOR

Back from their wedding trip to the Ozarks and settled in their new home in the suburb are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Clark.

Among the numerous post nuptial courtesies honoring the couple was a buffet dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Frerichs were host and hostess on Monday evening, June 1. Sixteen departmental business associates of Mr. Clark and their wives were invited to the Frerichs home for the evening.

The Ok-Ta-Te Camp Fire Girls, fourth graders at Merle Beattie School, met at the home of their leader, Mrs. Ray Knapp, last Wednesday evening when they received their first Trailseekers rank.

Guests for the evening were the young ladies' mothers.

Dear Abby . . .

Make 'Reservation' Now!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: While my husband and I usually agree, there is one point on which he is unreasonable. He insists that because he is a veteran, the government will bury him. I want to put him away in style, regardless of the cost. Please tell me how to win my point?

LOVING WIFE
DEAR LOVING: Don't argue about it. Get together with your friendly neighborhood undertaker and find out if he has a convenient long-term "lay away" plan.

DEAR ABBY: I have a hairdresser. She is terrific but she talks too much. The minute I get in her chair she talks about her husband, her dog, her trailer, the other women who come in. She even talks about the people who work in the shop. She drives me crazy. I can't even pick up a magazine and get through a story for all her interruptions. She is just starting out and I would like to send my friends to her but wonder if I should. I could use some advice.

STANDING APPOINTMENT
DEAR STANDING: (and you are standing for a lot!) If you want to do your hairdresser a favor, tell her in a very diplomatic way that women come into a shop to have their beauty work done and to relax. Quiet is essential to relaxation. You won't have to draw her any pictures.

DEAR ABBY: My married brother was operated on for appendicitis and he was given a big dose of ether. While he was coming out of the ether he kept calling for his mother. His wife was there and she was terribly put out because he called for his mother instead of for her. Now my brother says he can't remember calling for anybody. My sister-in-law is very mad at my brother for this. Please tell me if she can hold my brother responsible for what he said under ether?

IN BETWEEN
DEAR IN: Any doctor will tell you that it is only "natural" to call for "Mother" under these circumstances. The wife should not feel hurt or slighted. When she raises a son, she will realize that no matter how old a man grows, he is still his mother's "child."

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a little four-year-old girl who is very naughty? When I put her to nap in the afternoon she says, "You aren't my Mommy and I don't have to mind you!" (I am her grandmother.) Then she gives me a lot of back chat and makes a face at me. If I put her in bed she doesn't stay there. She tears up the room (it's my house) and all is bedlam. Spanking is useless as she is so defiant she will not cry. I can't refuse to keep her because if I did, her mother (my daughter-in-law) would not have one day out a week. Is there a solution?

NANNY
DEAR NANNY: Quit being the goat! A mother who wants an afternoon out should train her child to be obedient, respectful and pleasant. Perhaps if you make it plain to your daughter-in-law that you refuse to look after her ill-behaved child, she'll get busy and do something about it.

CHEVY BESTS

Independent experts and official figures prove Chevrolet's ahead of its field in seven big ways

BEST BRAKES . . . In direct competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NASCAR*, Chevy out-stopped both the other leading low-priced cars—and why not: Chevy brakes are far larger, built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life.

BEST TRADE-IN . . . Check the figures in any official N.A.D.A.† Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

BEST STYLE

Popular Science magazine sums it up: "The fact is, in its price class the Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling . . . It's the only low-priced car that's unmistakably modern in every line."

BEST ECONOMY . . . No doubt about this: two Chevrolet Sixes won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full-size car.

BEST ROOM . . . Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.‡ make this clear. For example, Chevy front seat hip room is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

BEST ENGINE . . . Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As Sports Cars Illustrated puts it: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."

BEST RIDE . . . You'll be able to tell this yourself, instantly. But Motor Trend magazine expresses it this way: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

No wonder more people are buying Chevrolets in 1959 than any other car!

There is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Sprinter Gets Hit No. 2,500; A's Win

Kansas City (A)—Seven and 1/2 innings of tight relief pitching by newly-acquired Tom Sturdivant boosted the Kansas City Athletics to a 5-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox Tuesday night.

Sturdivant, former Yankee ace, took the mound in relief of Ray Herbert after the Red Sox had scored 3 runs in the first inning on doubles by Don Buddin and Ted Williams, and singles by Pete Runnels and Frank Malzone. He got Dick Gernert to bounce into a force play, ending the inning, and throttled Boston on 4 hits until the 9th.

Rip Coleman got the side out in the 9th after Sturdivant had issued a lead-off walk to pinch hitter Marty Keough.

Sturdivant, who came to the A's from New York in a trade last week, was making his first appearance for the Athletics save for a brief 9th-inning stint in Cleveland last Saturday.

Williams' double in the first inning was the 2,500th hit for his major league career, and his only safety Tuesday night.

Williams collected his first hit on April 20, 1939, against Red Ruffing of the Yankees. After he swatted his double, play was stopped and he was presented with the ball.

Brave Vet Blanks SF ON 5 HITS

Milwaukee (A)—Milwaukee's veteran Bob Rush, stopped San Francisco with a masterful 5 hit shutout Tuesday night as the first-place Braves posted a 3-0 victory to move back into a 2 1/2 game lead over the Giants.

Rush, 33-year-old righthander in his 11th National League season, struck out 8 men while hurling his 4th triumph with no defeats. It also marked his first complete game of the year. He didn't walk a man and didn't allow a San Francisco player to reach second base.

Eddie Mathews supplied Rush with a working margin in the first inning by blasting a 2-1 pitch far into the bleachers for his 17th homer, tops in the National League.

The Braves added two more runs in the 5th on San Francisco starter Stu Miller to insure their victory.

Hammering Hank Aaron, the National League batting leader, had two doubles and a single, plus an intentional walk to boost his average 9 points to .424. The loss was the first for Miller, normally a relief specialist, after 3 straight wins.

Fishing Report Shows Another Record Haul

For the second time in two weeks, the Nebraska Game Commission Tuesday reported a record fish catch. The specimen was a 3 1/2 pound small-mouth bass taken in McConaughy Reservoir.

A week ago the commission listed a record 25 1/2 pound Northern, caught at Enders Reservoir.

Crappie fishing continues to dominate the Nebraska scene, with some fabulous catches reported, the commission said in its weekly fishing roundup.

At Swanson Lake, officer Lee Bowers checked 31 fishermen with an aggregate bag of 704 crappie running about 9 inches in size.

At Harlan County Reservoir, 80 fishermen contacted had a total of 785 crappie.

Other crappie strongholds included Carter Lake, Medicine Creek, Smith Lake, Offutt Air Force Base Lake, Enders Lake, Whitney Reservoir and Box Butte Reservoir.

For bullheads, Alexandria Lake, the Shickley rain-water basin area, east Kimball Reservoir and Crystal Lake were the best producers. Crystal Lake in Adams County produced 236 bullheads for 44 anglers interviewed.

During the week, conservation officers checked a total of 1,359 anglers (20 per cent of them women) with 5,378 fish.

The fish included 57 trout, 113 largemouth bass, 97 walleye, 333 bluegill, 41 sunfish, 3,201 crappie, 203 white bass, 208 channel catfish, 830 yellow perch, one northern pike and 30 miscellaneous fish.

White bass enthusiasts fared best in Keith County's McConaughy Reservoir and Otter Creek.

The record sized small-mouth bass was taken by Harry L. Oswald Jr. of Garden City, Kan. Jack Lytle, C. Crow and Francis Gillen, all of McCook, caught walleyes weighing 8 1/2, 6 5/8 and 4 pounds, plus 14 one-pound white bass in McConaughy.

M. Rittenhouse, Lewellen, hooked 8 two-pound white bass in McConaughy.

Fred Stanley, Enders, took 5 1/4 and a 3-pound bass in Enders Lake while Wade Eiler, Stratton, caught a 4-pound walleye in Swanson Lake.

Enders Lake gave up a 16-pound catfish to Clyde Walters of Benkelman while Wesley Bird of Columbus took a 17-pound channel catfish from a sandpit south of Genoa.

Robert Gerhardt, Fairbury, hooked 17 and 22-pound catfish at Fairbury dam while Mark Steinburck of Beatrice hooked a 6-pound bass on his first cast at Alexandria Lake No. 3.

Corn Growers Saying Need: Dry Days

Only 60% Crop Planted

Wet weather continues to put brakes on corn planting in Nebraska, government crop observers reported.

As of Saturday, just a little more than 60% of the crop had been planted, compared with an average 85% by May 30.

The western two-thirds of the state is about finished with the corn planting while northeast Nebraska has the job about three-fourths done.

In east central and south-east counties, only about two-fifths of the acreage has been planted and in some counties less than 20% of the planting has been done.

Sorghum and soybean planting are under way, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported further in its weekly crop summary.

Oats and spring barley have been held back by cold wet weather but winter barley has been making good progress.

Wheat is heading throughout the southern half of the state. Wheat streak mosaic has affected the crop in some central and eastern counties and Hessian fly damage also is reported in the southeast.

Hail damage was described as "rather widespread." Some

West Half Of Nebraska Expects Rain

There will be showers from the northwest Pacific Coast to western Montana Wednesday and in northern New England and around Lake Superior. Widespread shower and thunderstorm activity will prevail along the Gulf Coast and from western portions of South Dakota to Texas. Most of the rest of the nation should have clear to partly cloudy skies. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Law Making Weather Control District Ruled Unconstitutional

Gering, Neb. (AP) — District Judge Richard M. Van Steenburg held Tuesday that the Nebraska law under which the North Platte Valley Weather Modification District for hail suppression was created is unconstitutional.

Judge Van Steenburg said the law is unconstitutional because it gives the district directors held up the operation of a cloud seeding contract until the court action was concluded, and only a small amount of administrative expense has been incurred.

Another weather modification law has been drawn and is now before the Nebraska legislature in an attempt to remedy some of the defects in the 1957 law known as LB 539. The new proposal is LB 633.

This ruling is being made in two injunction actions brought by Lorin R. Summerville of Scottsbluff, appearing as plaintiff in behalf of himself and others challenging the 1957 law.

One action sought to enjoin the county treasurer from collecting and disbursing funds provided in a one-mill levy against all property in the district and the other was directed against the North Platte Valley Weather Modification District and its directors. It sought to prohibit them from obtaining and disbursing the funds.

The district includes the southern end of Sioux County, the northern strip of Banner County, all of Scotts Bluff County and the western valley section of Morrill County.

Judge Van Steenburg said since part of the money already had been collected under the levy, and already turned over to the district there could be a compromise on the tax collections for the remainder of the year.

The Scotts Bluff County treasurer had collected about $38,000 on the levy and turned over some $34,000 to the directors of the district.

However, since these injunction suits have been pending

Beaver Crossing Animal Wins 1st In Cattle Show

Omaha (AP)—Romona, shown by Earl and Curtis Phillips of Beaver Crossing, won grand champion honors at the annual state Black and White Cattle Show.

An entry from the Abel Dairy Farm near Lincoln was runnerup. Ginger, 5 time champion owned by Willis H. Armbrust, Millard, was 3rd.

The grand champion bull was from the State Penitentiary herd.

Larry Axthelm, 16, Lincoln, won the Holstein "Brain Buster" quiz, and received a calf donated by the Phillips brothers.

16-Year-Old Gets Life For Slaying Folks

Omaha (AP) — William Leslie Arnold, 16, was sentenced to life imprisonment Tuesday for killing his parents.

The pale, dark-haired youth stood with head bowed, hands folded and he blinked back tears in District Court and pleaded guilty to two charges of second degree murder.

The counts were reduced from first degree murder Tuesday by County Attorney John J. Hanley as Arnold's trial was about to begin.

Last October young Arnold told police of the double shooting which had occurred Sept. 27, and led officers to a spot under a lilac bush in the rear yard of his home where his father and mother, William and Opal Arnold, lay buried.

The boy said the shootings came after an argument over his use of the family car.

The amended charges alleged that the youth committed the murders "maliciously and purposefully but without premeditation."

Young Arnold's attorney, A. Sheppard Taylor, told District Judge Patrick W. Lynch a "thorough study of the background of this case seems to merit leniency."

Fires Shotgun Into House; 'Mad' At Cousin's Beating

A 21-year-old man, whom police said was "mad" because his cousin had been beaten up, fired two shotgun blasts early Tuesday morning into the home of the youth who had assaulted his cousin.

Jack Schaffer of 7125 Stanton, arrested by police shortly after the shooting incident, pleaded guilty in County Court to "assaulting and threatening persons at 505 West 1st" and was fined $25 by Judge Herbert A. Ronin. No one was injured by the blasts.

Police said Schaffer told them he was mad at Vincent Benny Delgado, 18, of 505 West 1st. Delgado had pleaded guilty Monday in County Court to an assault and battery charge in connection with an early-Sunday-morning assault of John Rohn, 17, of 5242 Madison.

'Laying Out' Fine
Delgado is "laying out" a $50 fine in the County Jail, so was not home at the time of the shooting incident.

Police said Schaffer and four other youths drove to the Delgado home about 3 a.m. Tuesday and Schaffer got out, fired two 20 gauge shotgun blasts into the Delgado home and one into the air and then fled. The other four youths were not charged.

Mrs. Vincent Delgado, 40, of 505 West 1st, said she was not home at the time of the shooting.

Dog Racing Proposal Killed

Nebraska's Legislature reversed itself Tuesday and rejected a proposal to legalize dog race betting in Nebraska. The dog race feature had been tacked earlier onto LB611, a measure which in original form was designed to submit to the voters a constitutional amendment legalizing certain lotteries and gift enterprises where no investment of money or effort is involved. The dog racing amendment was sponsored by Sen. George Fulton of Beatrice. A motion by Sen. William Moulton of Omaha to reconsider the previous action on Fulton's amendment carried 22-19 and on its new test, the

Omaha Bridge Site Studied

Nebraska highway officials said Tuesday the co-operative study with Iowa in the location of the Omaha-Council Bluffs Interstate Highway bridge should be finished by the first of next year. John Hossack, program and planning engineer, said the entire stretch from the interchange on the Council Bluffs side to the 28th and Dodge Sts. interchange in Omaha was under study. The functional plan study now in progress will be the basis for locating the bridge and approaches. The area under study for the bridge is from the Ak-Sar-Ben bridge to about 3 blocks north.

Details of construction, as to whether the bridge will be double deck, 6 or 8 lanes, etc., must await the functional plan study. It has been estimated, however, that the bridge itself, to be about a half mile long, will cost about $11 million. The cost will be borne 90% by the federal government, and 5% each by Nebraska and Iowa. The functional plan study should decide two main questions about the location of the bridge, Hossack said: How to maintain the traffic flow standards, and how to minimize construction costs and at the same time maximize the benefits to users.

DEPLANE'S POSTCARD

"Can she bake a cherry pie, Billy-boy, Billy-boy?" "Can she bake a cherry pie, charming Billy?" The news from London is excellent: Elizabeth Taylor and Eddie Fisher have arrived. "I will soon give up my movie career to become just a plain housewife," said Miss Taylor plainly. She added that this would take place "after I make three or four more pictures."

But what the heck. You cannot blame a girl for making a last million.

It is not as easy to be just a plain housewife as you would think. That is where Miss Taylor may find a problem and I am glad to give her a little advice.

In the first place, a plain housewife spends most of her time trying not to be so blamed plain. Fact, if you call a housewife "plain," I advise you to smile when you say it.

If you say it to your own house, don't bother to smile. Duck!

The plain housewife rises in the morning and rakes the curlers from her plain hair — "the beauty parlor charged me $8.90 and LOOK at it!"

She looks at her plain face in the mirror. And the bathroom scales show plainly that something new has been added. Pretty soon she is tapping the spoon on the coffee cup and giving Plain Joe across the table the plain, ungarbled word.

"Do you think I am plain?" she demands.

"Howzat?" says Joe, coming out of the sports page. "Sure you are, doll. You are plain as all get out. That is what I like about you."

The lady then bursts into tears. "You heel!"

Naturally, Miss Taylor does not foresee this sort of thing. She is dreaming a little soap-opera dream. Miss Taylor has never been a Plain Housewife. She does not realize that the trouble is that it is so terribly plain.

Nothing could be plainer. Now, as most plain housewives know, it does not work quite like that. First, the hollyhocks must be sprayed against rose thrips. Also cultivated—it is rough on the hands even with gardening gloves.

In the cozy, four-room bungalow, the washing machine has busted down. This may seem like part of the simple, plain life. But it is more frustrating than a Just Plain Movie Actress can imagine.

When the hero of this sylvan scene comes home, he often runs into the wheelbarrow. The driveway was made in such a way that you cannot see the gardening tools as you swing toward the garage.

He chants off a few romantic bars. And it is not "I Want to Dance All Night." "BLAST!"

County School Head Bill Dies; Motor Scooter Use OKd

The Legislature Tuesday gave the ax to a bill to set standards and salary minimums for county superintendents of schools.

The vote on general file was 26-12 to kill after half a dozen senators spoke against the measure, LB528.

The measure would have required a bachelors degree for county superintendents in counties of under 20,000 population and a masters degree in counties of over 20,000. It also would have set a minimum salary scale ranging from $3,600 to $9,500.

Sen. Oliver Olinger of Tekamah argued that the dog-racing "tail" is "bigger than the dog (the original bill)."

He said a resolution asking for such a study had been introduced by Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth.

Gerdes noted the provisions of the measure would not go into effect until 1963 because of the election of superintendents in 1958.

Advanced on general file was LB584 the much discussed and oft-voted on motor scooter regulation bill.

The measure was amended Tuesday to allow 14 and 15 year olds to drive scooters only to and from school and while working. The amended bill would not allow more than one child on a scooter.

The bill was advanced and amended after a motion by Sen. Joe Vosoba of Wilber to kill lost by an 18-20 margin. Also advanced on general file was LB420 a measure to require real estate firms to separate escrow accounts from regular accounts and to require copies of purchase and sale agreements to be given to both parties.
